Biographical Note

This is a collection of various greeting cards, including valentines, Christmas, birthday and other occasions. There are 67 names associated with the collection. Of these several have been identified. The five Wonsons were cousins. Siblings, Charles H. (born 1875), Edith A. (born 1878) and Florence (born 1880) were the children of Anna E. (Tarr) and Charles H. Wonson, a Gloucester fish merchant. Dorothy Wonson (born 1897) was the oldest daughter of Katherine (Davis) and George H. Wonson, a Boston based civil engineer and contractor. Addison Wonson (born 1859) was one of the five children of Susan E. (Story) and Augustus H. Wonson, a paint manufacturer in the Tarr & Wonson Cooper Paint Co. Lucy B. Davis (born 1836) was the only daughter of Lucy K. (Brown) the first wife of William Fuller Davis, a Gloucester merchant and sail-maker. Mr. Davis married twice more and had another daughter about eighteen years later named Catalina. The sisters were close despite their age difference, never married, and became benefactors of the CAM. Hilda Hanson (born 1896) and her mother Louisa C. Hanson both received cards. Father and husband was Peter H. Hanson a Danish immigrant and Gloucester fisherman. Abbie Bray (born 1887) was the only child of Eliza A. (Doyle) and George H. Bray, a Gloucester blacksmith. Calvin Trask (born Joseph C. c.1823) was the only child of Hannah (Dodge) and Joseph Trask, trader. Calvin was a hostler and stage coach driver who evaded the senders of the valentines and did not marry until he was forty-three. Harriet Elizabeth Bray (born 1825), daughter of Elizabeth (Elwell) and Simon T. Bray, wheelwright, died from consumption at the age of twenty-eight. Willie Webster Ballard (born 1867) was the youngest son of Caroline L. (Brooks) and Arta Ballard, “huler,” of Lynn, MA. Hattie M. Fears (born 1856) was the oldest daughter of Harriet (Raymond) and Robert A. Fears, Gloucester sail-maker. Mr. Fears was also the first elected mayor of the City of Gloucester after its incorporation in 1873, winning over Addison Gilbert, a local philanthropist, by a vote of 1096 to 698. Gertie Sayward (born Emma Gertrude in 1866) and her sister Mabel Sayward (born 1869) were the daughters of Emma (Prime) and George Sayward, a Gloucester fish merchant employed in later life by the City of Gloucester as the Temperance Missionary. Howard Elwell (born 1860) was the youngest of the nine children of Sarah (Parsons) and Samuel Elwell, master mariner. Alice Friend (born 1879) was the oldest child of Helen M. (Upham) and Elbridge G. Friend, Gloucester Dry Goods dealer. Beulah Baldwin Bailey (born 1896) was the oldest child of Susie S. (Wonson) and Addison W. Bailey, a sailmaker. Amelia Raphael Bennett (born 1895) was the eighth of the nine children of Nova Scotian immigrants Adeline (Comeau) and Jeremiah Bennett, a carpenter. Amelia died in 1908 at the age of thirteen from appendicitis. Ethel H. Bradley (born 1880) was the only child of Martha A. (Smith) and E. Archer, a clerk. The Babson siblings Hannah (born 1834), Edward (born 1839) and Isabella (born 1848) were the children of Amanda (Stanwood) and merchant mariner Capt. Edward Babson.

Scope and Content of the Collection

This collection of cards dating from 1849 to 1910 was given the title ‘Valentine Cards’ but includes cards for other occasions, most notably Christmas and Birthday cards, and one or more miscellaneous cards such as bookmarks, place cards, an advertising card and several empty envelopes. It also contained a Junior Commencement in 1849, a wedding invitation in 1884, a dance card, and school grade cards, which have all been removed.

Many of the cards were donated during a period at the CAM when formal acquisition numbers were not always assigned. Tracing the unnumbered acquisitions is difficult, if not impossible. This made it necessary to organize the collection “artificially” i.e. in an arrangement other than that by which the collections were received. All identifiable accessions are listed with the container list. The name Hilda Hanson appears in a large number of valentines but the actual donor is unknown.

The valentines, which constitute the largest part of the collection, are divided into three subseries: mid 19th to early 20th century, late 19th to early 20th century, and early 20th century.

The collection ranges from very elaborate – a celluloid and fabric card, cards with silk fringes, box cards and cut paper foldout cards – to the very simple handmade card. Any outstanding features are noted in the container list. The cards are identified by either a word or phrase from the front of the card, e.g. Purity; or by the title of the first line of the verse from inside the card.

Family members and classmates gave most of the cards to the children of middle-class families in Gloucester; others are obscure. For instance, neither of Willie Webster Ballard’s parents were from Gloucester, nor did they apparently ever live in Gloucester.

There are two appendices: I A list of valentine manufacturers; II A list of names of recipients, where a full name was given.
